FOREWORD.

It is right and good that the Sons of the American Revolution should feel a just pride in their ancestry and in the personnel of its membership lineally descended from such sturdy stock. Its membership is composed of lineal descendants of more than 25,000 active military and civil participants in the struggle with England for "Liberty regulated by law." Of the 56 signers of the Declaration of Independence, 40 are represented in this society by more than 100 patriots of to-day.

The Sons of the American Revolution has won and been accorded recognition as a national institution, not as an historic or genealogical association, but as a great patriotic organization.

The membership is really American in spirit, for it is not restricted to any particular class of citizens. All are welcome, provided they are eligible and respectable, and it is a fact that in no other organization in this land can more representative Americans be found. Presidents of the United States, admirals of the navy, generals of the army, diplomats, cabinet officers, men in high places in legislative, judicial, scientific, professional and mercantile life. The greatest, the humblest, the richest, the poorest, whose ancestors actively helped to establish the United States of America, have been welcomed into this organization. The personnel of the society forms a roll of which any may be proud.

"Look not mournfully into the Past;
It comes not again.
Wisely improve the Present
It is thine.
Go forth to meet the shadowy future
Without fear and with a manly heart."
—Longfellow.

Very respectfully yours,

(Signed) Secretary

Mr.

5. The Treasurer shall bring to the attention of the Board, from time to time and until finally disposed of, the cases of members whose time for payment of Dues has been extended by the Board.
